FINE ARTS UNIVERSAL IN OUR CULTURE

By JOHN KOEHLER
Head of the Fine Arts Division

Over 100 students participate in the art program. Pictured above are Judy Lee with an abstract study, and Richard LaValle with an expressionistic study.

The cover picture is "City at Night" by Arlene Belknap, an example of the abstract expressionism she produces. "City" is one of twenty of Miss Belknap's paintings that made up her one-man show at the Palouse Room of the Bon Marche from October 21 through November 15, 1960. Arlene is a senior Art major and uses her talents frequently around Whitworth on scenery for plays, departmental displays and art shows.

The Intuitive side of man has always sought to externalize in some way or give expression to his deepest, most heart felt emotions. He has sought always for a means of communication that is universal in nature that can appeal to mankind directly.

The Fine Arts are most nearly the universal in our culture. They express our hopes and fears, joys and despairs, cynicism and aspirations directly to that which is the common denominator of mankind, human emotion. The Fine Arts, now as in ages past, are basic to any culture and without which there is no civilization.

In this existentialistic "do it yourself" phase that we are going through today participation in the arts has risen to an all time high. Our culture has also placed a new premium on creativity. Originality in the arts, creative thinking in social and economic areas, creative thinking and inventiveness in all phases of science are part of the almost desperate need of our stepped-up society. It is no surprise that many institutions of technology basically scientific in nature are putting in art courses. Inventiveness, creativeness, originality, externalization of ideas by other means than verbalization contribute to an ever increasing demand for new ways of thinking and expressing ideas.

The Art Department of Whitworth is trying to provide the broadest base possible for developing originality and creativeness. There are certain basic courses which provide certain knowledge and skills. The student then can major in Painting and Design, Applied Arts, Commercial Art, or a General Art course for future teachers. There are courses open also to non-majors since in our rather materialistic age intelligent consumers of good art are as necessary as intelligent producers of art.

MUSIC VITAL IN FINEARTS PROGRAM

It is the conviction of the Music Department that music must play a vital role in the Christian Fine Arts program, especially as it relates to the effective Christian liberal arts college.

We would like to highlight various ways in which some of the goals and aims of the department are articulated.

Undoubtedly, the foremost aim and goal is to provide courses as well as performance experiences for the student which will result in a better understanding and appreciation of our musical culture.

Departmental concerts, studio recitals, chapels, convocations, radio and TV, and special programs provide a multitude of opportunities. Besides regular department concerts and recitals, both the band and the choir make extensive tours each year.

The College Chorus sings regularly for chapel; and the choir and band, along with soloists from the department, provide other special music throughout the school year for chapels, convocations, Vespers, almost ad infinitum.

Last year the choir made two appearances with the Spokane Symphonic Chorale, one with the Spokane Philharmonic Orchestra in a highly successful performance of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. Next spring they will appear again with these groups in a performance of Kodaly's Te Deum.

Our music department sponsors the Spokane Symphonic Band, which is directed by Prof. Davis of our department.

Each private studio, be it in voice, piano, organ, or other, is in itself a workshop in performance experience.

A second aim of our department is to provide dynamic listening experiences for the entire college community. As for the listening experiences, the very performance experiences listed above provide just that. We feel that as a small college we do offer a wide range of such experience.

Besides the departmental presentations, we have a concert series on campus. Several fine local Spokane concert series are also available to our students and faculty. Courses in appreciation and literature are offered regularly.

Last, but not least, we are justly proud of our record collection, score library, and listening facilities. The pictures aptly show the scores, records, and playback equipment. A comfortable hi-fi room adjoins these rooms where several students can listen and study the scores of our recorded masterpieces.

We would be seriously amiss if we did not recognize the responsibility that is ours in the specific area of music in Christian worship. Not only do we seek to provide our music students with understanding, skill, and effective materials in this field, but we also aspire to establish an increasing awareness by the whole College community of the place of music in Christian worship.

Understandably, the focal point of this important experience is our College chapel where the music department prepares and guides organists, pianists, soloists, and hymn singing.

Our classes in hymnology, church music, and song leading are specifically designed for this purpose, however, as a Christian College our entire department is dedicated to the end that all our music shall glorify God.

WELCOME — 1961

All too rapidly the weeks and months of last year slipped away and now we are in the beginning of a new year. It will be a year quite different from its predecessors, for we now have a new administration and all the world looks at America to see what way we are going to take as we face an unknown future. I am not among those who feel that we have come to the end of our greatness and that there is nothing but unrest and possibly tragedy ahead. America is great because, for one thing, it has developed a remarkable system of checks and balances. A new administration does not necessarily mean a complete change in policies for we have always had a strong Congress made up of individuals who sense their responsibility of creating just laws that shall govern the people. Our responsibility now is to pray for our new and very young President, that he may have wisdom, understanding and a sobering sense of deep responsibility as he takes up this tremendous task of administration.

OUR WORLD NEEDS A PROGRAM

As we came to the closing months of 1960 it seemed that we were nearer to war and despair than in many a year. Nationalism is the cry of the world and nation after nation is shaking off its ties of relationship to older nations. The United Nations is faced with its most serious hour since its formation as it endeavors to give fair, strong leadership to the nations that are being born in our day. We should never let a day close without remembering in prayer those who are honestly endeavoring to guide our nations in this strangely unsettled hour.

OUR NATION NEEDS RIGHT EDUCATION

Three and a half million youth are in our colleges today and all of us who are concerned with the future of our nation should inquire into the kind of education we are transmitting to these young people. Is it an education made up of essentials or is it heavily loaded with non-essentials? Are these college young people actually learning what makes America great and are they being made cognizant of those deeply-rooted principles which shaped the

Fund Launched INDUSTRY AIDS ALUMNI RESPOND

The initial mailing for the 1960-61 Alumni Fund Drive was deposited with the postmaster early in December. Within 48 hours the first reply envelope was received in response. Since then the volume has increased to a rate equaling past campaigns.

Matching grants from corporations and foundations continue to hold real potential in the overall financial picture. As an example, Alumni employed by International Business Machines last year provided a substantial amount of funds which were matched by the corporation. This same group is participating in the current fund at a rate that will eclipse last year's total. With over one hundred firms committed to a similar program some Alumni are in a position to enable significant financial assistance to be accorded to Whitworth through the Alumni Fund.

The late date for the formal inauguration of this year's drive, coupled with the general downtrend in business, has provided a handicap for the fund in its early stages. However, the fine response to date augurs real promise of success in expressing the faith of Alumni in the future of Whitworth.

DRAMALUMS SCHEDULE SPRING PRODUCTION

The DramAlums, a group of Alumni interested in the presentation of dramatic readings and productions, is making tentative plans for an early spring staging. Cowles Memorial Auditorium has been booked for Thursday, April 13, and Friday, April 14, for two performances of "The Rainmaker" by N. Richard Nash.

Both aspiring and accomplished thespians are desired to fill roles in the play chosen for production. Gary Heilsberg, '58, has been in charge of preliminary preparation. He has announced that tryouts have been scheduled for Friday and Saturday, March 3 and 4. In addition to the on stage assignments, personnel will be required for set production, lighting, promotion, tickets and all the other various duties necessary to a successful presentation.

Alumni desirous of the opportunity to participate in the DramAlum production of "The Rainmaker" may contact either Heilsberg by calling KE 4-0839, or Carmen Poole Farley, '51, FA 5-1037.

The DramAlums made their debut as an organization by presenting "Visit to a Small Planet" at Homecoming 1958. Leading roles for that play were portrayed by Eugene "Dutch" Elias, '51, Vern Tucker, '50, Donna VanderMeer Dorpat, '49, James Quigley, '53, and Norman Dorpat, '49, in addition to Mrs. Farley and Heilsberg.

Misfortune Visits DEAN JENKINS TAKES UNOFFICIAL VACATION

Miss Marion Jenkins, '34, who has served as Dean of Women during the student days of more than 90% of Whitworth Alumni, met with misfortune on Friday, November 18. She had left her office for another location on campus when unfortunately for her, she made a quick decision to return to her office. As she turned, she lost her footing, fell, and broke her pelvic bone. Miss Jenkins spent more than three weeks in the hospital.

Upon her return to campus she required the aid of crutches. The Christmas vacation has been a period of recovery. As stated in a recent issue of the Whitworthian, "there is an emptiness around the campus without her." With the resumption of classes on January 3, the entire Whitworth community will be anticipating the return of "Mommie" Jenkins, to her official assignment as Mother to Whitworth co-eds and unofficial assignment as sincere friend to all Whitworthians.

Miss Marion Jenkins, '34

Area Clubs Active COLORADO ALUMNI ANTICIPATE MEETING

COLORADO

Alumni of Colorado are anticipating a meeting on January 14 with President Frank F. Warren. George, '50, and Dorothy Smyth McLarren, '49, have extended invitations to all Alumni of the state to an 8:00 p.m. meeting at their home at 2845 Forest, Denver. Dr. Warren will bring news of recent campus developments and projected plans for the future of Whitworth.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

The Southern California Alumni Club held their first area wide meeting in a number of years, on Friday evening, November 4. G. Ron Jongeward, '55, chairman of the Orange County Alumni group acted as toastmaster for the banquet which was held at Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park.

Reunion Wrap-up HOMECOMING SUCCESS CLASS OF '40 RETURNS

Homecoming 1960 developed into one of the most successful reunion events in Whitworth history. Best represented during the week end was the class of 1940. Members returning to celebrate their twentieth reunion were: Ed Bassford, LeRoy Hook, Werner Rosenquist, John Roth and Paul Wikstrom.

The week end activities began with a parade in downtown Spokane. The young and active Alumni had the opportunity to walk (run) through the downtown area with the students. More mature Alumni and faculty rode in a bus furnished by Spokane Suburban Lines, through the generosity of Werner and Gladys Hawley Rosenquest, '42.

A quick return to the campus enabled Alumni to attend the rally and bonfire before seeking the warmth of the auditorium for musical entertainment. Friday evening was concluded with a long and nostalgic session of renewing friendships around an abundant supply of apple cider and doughnuts.

In response to several requests, no activity was scheduled for Saturday morning, to permit returning Alumni to roam the campus and to visit leisurely with one another.

A busy conclusion to Homecoming began with the football game which proved to be a victorious occasion. The next event, the festive Homecoming banquet was held once again in the lobby of the Davenport Hotel. Jack Gunn, '59, acted as toastmaster and provided a portion of the entertainment for the 550 Alumni, students, faculty and friends of the College in attendance. A memorable week end drew to a close as nearly 200 persons lingered around the traditional Alumni punchbowl, reluctant to permit the joyous occasion to pass from reality.

Seventy-two persons were on hand to hear Dr. Clarence J. Simpson, Head of the Humanities Division, speak. His message was on the subject of why he, as a parent, would prefer that his children would attend Whitworth.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

The following evening, November 5, Dr. Simpson moved northward to Oakland, California, to present the same message to the annual meeting of Northern California Alumni. Wally Bekowies, '52, acted as toastmaster for the banquet which saw ninety-seven persons in attendance.

During the business meeting presided over by Spencer Lewis, '53, retiring president, an election of officers was held. Chosen to serve as president for the next two years was Don King, '53. Ann Noack, '60, was elected treasurer.

Speech - Drama Play Important Roles

More and more we are hearing about the importance of communications in the modern world. This is demonstrated from the increasing demand for people who can listen and speak as well as read and write. It is the proper function of the Speech Department to work with those who wish to make a career in the Speech fields or function as a service department for the hundreds of others who know that good speech practice will contribute to success in nearly every other area of interest. With more than 40% of communications time occupied with listening and nearly 30% with speaking it is obvious that everyone ought to be interested in the greater effectiveness of oral communications.

The Department of Speech and Drama at Whitworth offers as full a program as can be found in any College of comparable size in the Northwest and possibly equal to any in the country. All the major divisions of the field are offered including courses in:

- General Speech
- Fundamentals
- Drama
- Oral Interpretation
- Radio and TV (on demand)
- Debate
- Speech Correction
- Speech Education
- Research

The greatest emphasis at Whitworth is in General Speech and Fundamentals which serves to acquaint the students with the techniques of organization and presentation of materials effectively and ethically. It is in Dramatics through which students are given opportunity to practice the methods of acting and offered the cultural advantages in the art.

Whitworth has a chapter of the national honorary dramatic fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega. Each year three major productions are presented together with several others including Children's Theater production and a traveling company. Considerable emphasis is given to religious drama that is presented both on and off the campus.

In Debate and Forensics there are classes and intercollegiate competition in at least eight major tournaments each year. The department has a Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta which is a national forensic organization for accredited schools.

In Speech Correction and Education there are not only classes but field work in which students apply theory to actual events found in the school rooms of the public schools. Oral Interpretation is closely allied with all areas and seems to link the artistic with the purely practical and functional aspects of Speech. In these divisions Whitworth's Speech Department makes significant contributions.

In the future plans the Department hopes to find facilities for more effective work in the fields of Radio and Television, and especially as these media become more widely adapted for educational purposes; listening rooms for work in correction; a little theatre for even greater breadth in the work of Drama; and more extensive equipment for filming and recording of speakers and speeches.

WHITWORTH COED MISS SPOKANE XIV

Sally Ann Amick, an 18-year-old Whitworth freshman, is Spokane's official hostess for 1961. Sally, "five foot two with eyes of blue," is a graduate of Lewis and Clark high school in Spokane, and is a sociology major.

After taking semester finals this month she will stay out of school for the rest of her one year reign. Her duties began with the Rose Parade in Pasadena, California on January 2.

earlier days of our history? Moreover, are these millions of young people being led carefully into a study of the relationship of the spirit and the material? Are we going to be, ten years from now, stronger and greater and better than Russia if we leave out of our education the spiritual? Can a democracy be great if it is not good and can it be good if it ignores God? There must come to our colleges and universities a realization that man has a Creator and this God is vitally concerned with the destiny of His creation.

THE CHRISTIAN COLLEGE HAS A GRAVE RESPONSIBILITY IN 1961

Many people are seriously questioning whether there is enough difference between the Church-related college and the State-controlled college to warrant the sacrifice needed to keep these small colleges going. Unless a Christian college has a program designed to relate the spiritual concepts of living with academic pursuit, it has no real reason for existence. Whitworth makes but one resolution as we enter a new year, and that is to be more Christian, not less, to emphasize Christianity, not to minimize it, and to make Christ the very center of all our endeavors. We solicit your interest and your prayers as we enter a new year.

PIRATES DISPLAY BALANCED ATTACK

In the early pre-season games the Bucs have performed in the manner Coach Kamm has hoped for. Certain changes in the lineup have been put into effect in order to emphasize a balanced attack. The scoring has been evenly distributed among several players who have reached the double figure mark. The first five games showed Ed Hagen leading the team with 75 points, and close behind were Jay Jackson and Dave Morley with 65 each.

The starters have been Gary McGlocklin and Jay Jackson at the forward positions, Dave Morley and Ed Hagen as guards, and Steve Grover at center. The bench looks strong with Bob Quall coming in to spark some needed scoring surges. Steve Weiting, Dean McGuire, Les Koetje, Bob Huber, and Clayton Anderson have turned in some sparkling performances, also. Denny Spurlock has turned in his football uniform and has been very strong in some of the JV games as well as playing some with the varsity.

The Varsity has a very ambitious schedule lined up for the season. The pre-conference tilts included two with Montana State College, two with the very strong Gonzaga University cagers who are led by All-American Frank Burgess, Seattle Pacific College where Dick Kamm coached before coming to Whitworth, Carroll College of Helena, Montana, and a road trip to California during the Christmas holidays to meet Fresno State, Westmont and Pasadena College. The Holiday Tournament in Anaconda, Montana wound up the 1960 schedule.

League play begins on January 6 with a game at Cheney followed by a home game with Eastern on January 7. The Evergreen Conference promises to be tough again this year, but the Bucs will be out to win their share with the balanced scoring attack, a control type of ball handling and the fast break when the opportunity arises. With the early hustle and desire shown by the team they should make Dick Kamm's first season at Whitworth a winning one.

PIRATES CAPTURE CONFERENCE AND NATIONAL HONORS

After winning all nine of the regularly scheduled games this season the Pirates and friends gathered at the annual football banquet to honor the team. The players receiving the coveted awards are left to right — see picture) Bruce Baker, junior, Most Improved Back; Dennis Spurlock, junior, Most Valuable Player; Captain Tom Black, senior, Most Inspirational Player; and, Dave Koetje, senior, Most Improved Lineman.

The outstanding record of the team gave Whitworth high ratings in the three National polls. The N.A.I.A. and Associated Press Small College polls rated Whitworth 4th in the nation, and United Press International Small College poll placed the Pirates 15th.

Thirteen players received special individual recognition. Some of these were Denny Spurlock, named on the AP Little All Coast first team, 2nd team N.A.I.A. Little All-American, and the Evergreen All Conference team; John Murio, selected on the UPI Little All-Coast first team, UPI All Coast 2nd team, N.A.I.A. Little All-American honorable mention, and Evergreen All Conference team; and, Tom Black, picked for the 2nd team AP Little All-Coast, N.A.I.A. Little All-American honorable mention, and Evergreen All-Conference team.

Denny Spurlock led the nation in passing, set three new N.A.I.A. records and tied one N.C.A.A. record. The team was first in passing offense and tenth in total defense. In Evergreen Conference play the Pirates dominated all statistics, except team and individual rushing.

The climax of the season came with an invitation to meet Humboldt State College of Arcata, California, in the Western N.A.I.A. National Championship playoffs. The game was played Saturday night, December 3, at Eureka, California. Leo Hutchins is shown at right as he leaves the field in the Humboldt game. Humboldt State won 13-7 and earned the trip to St. Petersburg, Florida for the Holiday Bowl.

With only four seniors leaving the squad, everyone is eagerly awaiting next season and another chance at the National Championship.

WHITWORTH AUXILIARY

As far as the Whitworth Auxiliary is concerned to say that the wheels are rolling would be an understatement—rather the “take-offs” this fall have been thrilling. A letter from Mrs. Leo Forsberg, Chairman of the Tacoma Chapter, attests to this. Mrs. Forsberg writes: “We tried our wings and flew a ways! We have made progress and are meeting now for evaluation and future plans.” Dr. Warren presented their program November 1.

MRS. GRANT DIXON

The newest venture and one that literally swept us along with enthusiasm was an invitation from Mrs. W. J. Brooks to come to Waterville November 4. About 60 ladies attended a beautiful tea at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Loeb sack, the program being presented by Mr. Wright of the Development Department and students of the College. There are now twenty charter members to plan for the future.

Westminster Women of the First Church in Wenatchee sponsored a benefit evening November 20. Mrs. Sheldon Price writes “Professor and Mrs. Waltz were charming and everyone enjoyed them, also Mr. Wright and Marjorie Embrey.” Wenatchee newspapers published pictures and a story of the program and coffee hour which followed.

The Seattle Chapter began its second year with a tea at the University Church with Mrs. Kenneth Myers in charge of the program and Mrs. Arthur Symons, presiding. A most successful Hobby Show and Sale was held in the University District and although it was a very rainy day the attendance was large and rumors of the proceeds exciting.

As for the Spokane Chapter, Mrs. Willard Graham began her second year as president, with the Annual Tea held at the Hub. This is always a beautiful party with tea arrangements in charge of Mrs. F. E. Fogelquist. New officers this year are Mrs. Don Eagle, treasurer; Mrs. Milton E. Johnson, membership chairman; Mrs. J. W. Rockey, ways and means; Mrs. C. M. Pollock, publicity. Newly elected Executive Board members are Miss Jessie McNair, Mrs. Clyde Schmoyer, Mrs. Edward Wright and Mrs. James A. Blodgett. The Christmas bazaar and luncheon was highly successful. Lounge projects so far this year include a piano for Arend Hall, two reupholstered davenports and a lamp for Nason Hall, new tile floor and a floor lamp in the larger lounge of Westminster Hall. This is just the start of the continual supervision of the 18 student lounges on the Campus which are the particular responsibilities of the Auxiliary. Members of the Spokane Executive Board and their husbands were guests of the College at the Annual Christmas Banquet held in the College dining hall—a nice way of saying “thank you” to a group of interested and loyal people.

The Development Story

EDWARD V. WRIGHT, Director

Last summer twenty young people from the Congo left their country to come to America to study. They were full of high hopes and ambitions. They little knew that their land would soon be plunged into strife and terror. They were in New York and Washington studying English under a special program that would enable them to take their college work here in America.

Now they are awaiting word of their future. Their sponsor, The African-American Institute, is hoping to place them in colleges in February. The Department of Development is attempting to help one of these young men come to Whitworth. We would have to provide his expenses.

We are also busy seeking to interest foundations in our new Science Building. This is one of our top priority projects. Letters go out constantly in an effort to locate a foundation with interest in the science program of a Christian college.

Another interesting project is the establishment of a School of American Studies. This program seeks to train youth who are interested in a career in foreign service, or in school teaching with American Studies as their interest. We are searching for a foundation to underwrite this at a cost of $20,000 a year for five years.

A third current program is our Graduate School in Christian Education. This area of study will provide the Master of Arts degree for local ministers who desire to further their education. Within the framework of the curriculum will be an opportunity for our students who desire to prepare for service to the Church as Directors of Christian Education. This would supply an area of need long felt by the church.

What else do we do in this office? Many things, such as, helping in estate planning, serving alumni, publicizing the College, arranging cultural series, developing solicitation programs, and providing numerous other services. A lot of hard work, but it all goes to the building of a great college.
